INTRODUCTION

Ayurveda is the knowledge that deals with span and nature of life, its appropriate and in appropriateness, happy or sorrowful conditions of life and the auspicious or inauspicious things for longevity.

As we see, most of the western sciences are being learned with objectivity, mentality of reasoning, analysis and logical interpretations. Where as Ayurveda, the traditional medicine of India has been learned and practiced with observation, acceptance, experience, and with a subjective touch.

This holistic and individualized approach has created some sort of dilemma among the fresh professionals while incorporating the common methodology in treating ailments.

As far as Ayurveda is concerned, since a long time, it has been a lacuna that there is no single book which provides a brief, methodical, and practical information for fresh and professional physicians.

This book is an attempt to make the scattered information available at a place in a concise and methodical way which may be used as a "ready reckoner"

Ayurveda is the oldest and complete system of medicine in the world . It has been recorded in Sanskrit, the ancient language of India. Therefore, sometimes, the author " transliterates" Sanskrit terms to English when adequate English "translation" is not being made

Providing a common platform to different medical professionals is the inner idea behind this work.

To make this book more "users friendly", we request the respondents to send their valuable suggestions and furnish the necessary information.

FUNDAMENTALS OF AYURVEDA

Ayurveda means "The science of Life". It includes 8 main branches. They are:

1. Kaaya chikitsa (Internal medicine)
2. Baala tantra (Pediatrics)
3. Bhoota graha chikitsa (Management of seizures and other mental disorders)
4. Oordhvaanga chikitsa / Saalaakya tantra (Treatment of supra-clavicular disorders)
5. Salya tantra (Surgery)
6. Agada tantra / Damshtra chikitsa (Toxicology / War medicine)
7. Jaraa chikitsa / Rasaayana tantra (Geriatrics including Rejuvenation therapy)
8. Vrushya chikitsa (Science of Aphrodisiacs)

According to Indian mythology, Ayurveda was first perceived by Lord Brahma, the God for Creation, from whom, it had spread extensively.

The present form of Ayurvedic literature includes important ancient Ayurvedic classics like Charaka samhita (mainly deals with internal medicine), Susruta samhita (mainly deals with surgical aspects), Kaasyapa samhita (deals with child diseases), Saarangadhara samhita (mainly deals with process and preparation of medicines), Maadava nidaana (deals with diagnostic aspects of diseases), Ashtaanga hrudaya & Bhaava prakaasa. Rasa saastra granthas deals extensively with mineral and metallic preparations. These are all original Sanskrit classics which in due course translated in to various Indian and foreign languages.

PANCHA MAHAA BHOOТА THEORY

Man perceives the things with 5 senses in 5 different forms. These senses are the basis for the division of entire universe in to five Mahaabhootas.

According to Ayurveda, nothing in this universe is devoid of pancha mahaa bhootas.

| Mahaa bhoota | Perceiving sense organ |
|------------------------------------|------------------------|
| 1 Pruthvi (Solid state / ?? Earth) | Nose |
| 2 Jala (Liquid state / ?? Water) | Tongue |
| 3 Agni (Energy / ?? Fire) | Eyes |
| 4. Vaayu (Gaseous state / ?? Air) | Skin |
| 5. Aakaasa (Space / ?? Ether) | Ears |

In human body, five mahaa bhootas are explained in terms of a) Dosha b) Dhaatu and c) Mala.

In the drug, they represent, a) Rasa (Taste) b) Guna (Qualities) c) Veerya (Potency) and d) Vipaaka (Post digestive state of rasa)

Thus, the exogeneous mahaa bhootas are converted in to endogenous mahaa bhootas through the process of digestion and metabolism.

The panchabhartic composition of a substance from its properties or qualities may be determined basing of following chart.

| | Pruthvi | Jala | Tejas | Vaayu | Aakaa |
|--------------------------------|---|---|--|--|-----------------------------------|
| Main quality | Smell | Taste | Vision | Touch | Sound |
| Other qualities | Heavy Tough Hard Stable Non slimy Dense Gross | Liquid Unctuous Cold Dull Soft Slimy | Hot Sharp Subtle Light Ununctuous Non-slimy | Light Cold Ununctuous Rough Non-slimy Subtle | Soft Light Subtle Smooth |
| Promotin qualities in the body | Plumpness Compactness Heaviness Stability | Stickiness Unctuousness Compactness Moistness Softness Happiness | Combustion Metabolism Lustre Radiance Colour | Roughness Aversion Movement Non-slimines Lightness | Softness Porosity Lightness |

According to Ayurveda, human body is composed of 3 fundamental elements called :

- 1) Doshas
- 2) Dhaatus and
- 3) Malas.

In a perfect and healthy state of the body,

- Doshas govern the physico-chemical and physiological activities of the body.
- Dhaatus play an important role in the formation of the basic structure of the body, there by performing some specific actions.
- Malas are partly utilised by the body and partly expelled in an altered form after performing their physiological functions.

Thus, Dosha, Dhaatu and Malas are being kept in a dynamic state of equilibrium to maintain the positive health. Any disturbance in their relative proponderance in the body will lead to disease.

TRIDOSHA THEORY

Tri (3) doshas are -

- 1) Vaata
- 2) Pitta and
- 3) Kapha.

It is clear that Tridoshas govern the physico-chemical and physiological activities of the body in a balanced state and diseases in a disturbed state. Thus, this doctrine of Tridoshas forms the basis for the maintenance of positive health and diagnosis as well as treatment of diseases. Appreciation of this doctrine is essential for proper understanding and interpretation of the theory and practice of Ayurveda.

The following chart illustrates and demonstrates the concept of Tridoshas.

| VAATA | PITTA | KAPHA |

CONCEPT OF SAPTA DHAATU

In Ayurveda, the basic tissue elements of the human body are termed as "dhaatu". They are seven in number,

- 1) Rasa (Chyle including lymph)
- 2) Rakta (Haemoglobin fraction of the blood)
- 3) Maamsa (Muscle tissue)
- 4) Medas (Fat tissue)
- 5) Asthi (Bone tissue)
- 6) Majja (Bone marrow)
- 7) Sukra (Sperm in male and Ovum in female)

These dhaatus remain inside the human body of the individual in a particular proportion, and any change in their equilibrium leads to disease and decay.

CONCEPT OF MALA

The three important waste products of the body - pureesha (Stool), Mootra (Urine) and Sweda (Sweat) are called as malas. Their proper elimination is essential for the maintenance of health of the individual.

Thus, health according to Ayurveda is balanced (inter-intra) state of all the Doshas, Dhatus and Malas. Ayurveda deals with the total human being comprising of 'Tridoshas', 'Dhatus' and 'Malas' and the relationship of his totality with the outside world or the universe.

THERAPEUTIC INDEX

A. CLASSICAL / TEXTUAL / SASTREEYA PREPARATIONS

PART - 1

Notes on using therapeutic index

- All entries follow the under mentioned style :
Disease / Symptom / Sign / Morbid condition
Name of compound formulation, Dosage, Vehicle & (Reference book).
- This index lists out the medicinal preparations under each heading of morbid condition. The Sanskrit names of these morbid or diseased conditions are retained. If the user is not acquainted with Sanskrit terms, he is directed to go through the cross reference list for English equivalents of Sanskrit terms given in part 2 of this index.
- Doses mentioned are suitable for adults and on the medical practitioners own judgement can be repeated 3 to 4 times in 24 hours
- Medicines should be administered orally (by mouth) unless and otherwise specified in other routes.
- Doses are expressed in metric system of weights and measures. The terms "ml", "mg", "g" etc are used as short designation for milliliter, milligram, gram respectively
- For the desired result, it is advisable to administer the medicine along with one of the prescribed vehicle (anupaana)
- Apart from thousands of classical formulations, only those which are widely accepted and freely available are included in this index. Pharmaceutical companies are manufacturing and marketing these shastric medicines with the same name
- If the ghee or honey is given as vehicle, cold water should not be given for one hour. If needed, lukewarm water may be given.

- For an early and increased action of medicine, it should be given on empty stomach.
- When compared to pills and powders, liquid preparations like Aasavaarishtas are more potent. So, in cases where better and prompt result is expected, it is a wise practice to prefer liquid preparations instead of pills and powders.
- It is not true that indiscriminate usage of Ayurvedic medicines, especially rasa preparations will cause nothing. If usage of these medicines for a prolonged period is highly indicated, then it is better to give a pause.
- While using rejuvenators and aphrodisiacs, it is important for the individuals to abstain from sexual activity.
- It is advisable to ask the patient to crush the solid pills like guggulu with teeth before consuming. Otherwise, the pills due to their binding nature may be excreted as it is.
- For the ingredients of each preparation, reader is directed to refer the original classics. Providing such type of information is beyond the scope of present edition. However, in the subsequent editions, we may overcome this difficulty.
- Abbreviations of referred books while making this index are :-

O „ Selection of the medicine(s) from the list under each disease is left to medical practitioner. Different types and forms of medicines appearing in this index are :

Aasava and Arishta : These are medicinal preparations made by soaking the drugs, either in powder form or in the form of decoction (Kashaaya), in a solution of sugar or jaggery, as the case may be, for a specified period of time. During this period, it undergoes a process of fermentation generating alcohol, thus facilitating the extraction of the active principles contained in the drugs. Potency period : Indefinite.

Arka . This is a liquid preparation obtained by distillation of certain liquids or drugs soaked in water.

Avaleha or Leha and Paaka : These are semisolid form of drugs, prepared with the addition of jaggery, sugar or sugar-candy and boiled with prescribed drug juice or decoction. Potency period : One year.

Kvaatha choorna : These are the powder form of certain drugs or combination of drugs which are made into coarse powder and kept for preparation of kashaaya (decoction). Potency period : One year.

Guggulu : Preparations having the exudate of the plant, Commiphora mukul as main effective ingredient are known as Guggulu, which are usually presented in the form of pills. Potency period : Two years.

Ghruta or Sneha kalpa : These are the preparations in which ghee is boiled with prescribed kashaaya (decoction) and kalka (paste) of drugs. This process ensures the ghee to absorb the active therapeutic principles of the ingredients. Before administration, Ghruta should be warmed indirectly. If the vehicle is not specified, it should be taken along with warm water or warm milk. Potency period : Sixteen months.

Choorna : This is the fine powder of drug or drugs. Potency period : One year.

Taila : These are preparations in which taila (oil) is boiled with prescribed kashaaya (decoction) and kalka (paste) of drugs. This process ensures the oil to absorb the active therapeutic principles of the ingredients. Tailas are generally used for external application. Some of them are also used internally along with the prescribed vehicle (anupaana). When no such vehicle is mentioned, it should be taken with warm water or warm milk. Potency period : Sixteen months.

Draavaka . These are liquid preparations obtained from lavana (salt) and kshaara (alkaline substance) by distillation process with or without addition of fluids. Potency period : Indefinite.

Lavana kshaara : These are the alkaline substances obtained from the ash of drug or drugs. Potency period : Indefinite Lepa : Medicines in the physical form of a paste used for external application are called as lepas. Potency period : Vegetable preparations ; Thirty days. Mineral and Metallic preparations ; Indefinite period.

Vatee and Gutikaa : Medicines prepared in the form of flat tablets or rounded pills are known as Vatee and Gutikaa. These medicines are made up of one or more drugs of plant, animal or mineral origin. Potency period : Vegetable origin : Two years. Mineral origin : Indefinite period.

Vartti, Netrabindu and Anjana : These medicines are used externally in eye disorders in various forms like ointment, drops etc. Potency period : Vegetable origin : One year Mineral origin : Indefinite period.

Sattva : This is a water extract from solid drug(s)

Koopeepakva Rasaayana : These medicines are prepared from drugs of mineral and metallic origin (rasaushadhi) by a very specialized procedure using some special devices like Kaacha koopi (glass flask), Vaalukaa yantra etc. Potency period : Indefinite.

Parpatee : Parpatee is a rasa (mercurial) preparation In this procedure, the flakes of the compound are obtained. Hence it is named so Potency period : Indefinite.

Pishtee : These are prepared by triturating the drug with the specified liquids and exposing to sun rays or moon light. These are prepared without the medium of fire and hence called as "anagnitapta bhasma". Potency period : Indefinite.

Bhasma : It is a powder obtained by calcination of metals or minerals or animal products which are by special processes, calcined in closed crucibles in pits and with cow dung cakes. Potency period : Indefinite.

Mandoora : These are preparations containing purified mandoora (iron oxide) along with other drugs.

Rasa yoga : Medicines containing mineral drugs as main ingredients triturated with other drugs are called Rasa yogas. They may be in rounded pill form or in powder form. Potency period : Indefinite.

Lauha : These are preparations of Loha bhasma (Ferrous powders) as main ingredient added to other drugs. Potency period : Indefinite.

HOME REMEDIES

Here, we are providing some common home remedies which are tried and succeeded by the experienced physicians and vaidyas.

With a proper diagnosis, interpretation and decision, one can do wonders with these formulas.

To make the things more clear, we have used common English names of the drugs, supported by local Telugu and Hindi names.

Abbreviations used in this chapter are : T = Telugu; H = Hindi; TSF = Table spoon fulls; mg = Milligram; gm = Gram etc.

Abscess :

- Take the fruits of Datura (T : Ummetta. H : Ummetta) Boil them and make as paste. Apply this as a poultice over the boil.
- Take dried ginger and Asafetida (T : Inguva. H : Hing) Make as a paste and apply over the boil.
- Grind Sesame seeds (T : Nuvvulu. H : Til) with buttermilk and apply as poultice.
